“Proposal for Livestock Sea Transport from Remote Sources”

The Orkneys are 18 hours sailing from Aberdeen. This exceeds the travelling time allowed for movement of their cattle and sheep without a stop for rest and water if on Ro/Ro lorries.

David Laidlaw owns and operates Orkney Marine Logistics and has devised an inspired solution to the problem with custom-built 'cassettes' that allow feed and water to be supplied in transit. This would allow a comfortable voyage of any length.
