What started out as a school holiday job in 1995, helping out at her mom's pet transportation business in Durban, turned into the discovery of a lifelong passion and dedication towards growth and development within the pet relocation industry. It was here where Hazel started learning how to deal with clients, work out quotes and truly discover the foundations of the pet relocation building blocks and all it encompassed.

Armed with a wealth of knowledge passed down through generations, and her strong corporate background established whilst living in London for 9 years, the creation of PETport and its vision to ensure pets and owners are reunited through the course of their relocation was born.

Hazel has a deeply ingrained commitment to growth and development. She strongly believes in the goals and vision that started her on this journey and continues to share with and educate her staff members on excellence in delivery and certified experience within the industry, thereby guaranteeing the best experience to both humans and pets alike. As the slogan says.. "It's Not Just Business, It's Personal!"

She has always been involved in pet rescue and has been a "failed foster mom" to many a needy animal, always welcoming a new soul into her home. This passion and care is pulled through again in her company PETport. Their constant work with assisting various rescue centres place pets in their new forever homes throughout South Africa is one of the ways Hazel gives back to community whilst setting PETport apart from the rest.
